

O Children of Your God, Rejoice

Nun freut euch, Gottes Kinder, all

Geistliche Deutsche Lieder (1601), fol. 43r
tr. Walther's Hymnal, no. 122

Bartholomäus Gesius (1555–1613)
ed. Jonathan Wessler

1 O child - ren of your God, re - joice: In praise lift to the Lord your voice:
6 No more dis - tress our spir - it hath: The dev - il, sin, and end - less death
7 He sent the Ho - ly Spir - it here, Our hearts to feed and fill with cheer,
12 These ma - ny god - ly gifts so fair Are but the Spir - it's own to share,

With shouts of joy He to the skies A - scends: to Him our praise shall rise.
Are put to shame and o - ver - thrown By God's and Mar - y's might - y Son.
Us to con - solre by God's good Word, A - gainst the dev - il's wrath se - cured.
Who turns the dev - il's works to naught: All this the Lord's a - scen - sion brought.

O children of your God, rejoice:
In praise lift to the Lord your voice:
With shouts of joy He to the skies
Ascends: to Him our praise shall rise.

He sent the Holy Spirit here,
Our hearts to feed and fill with cheer,
Us to console by God's good Word,
Against the devil's wrath secured.

So thank we now our precious Lord
With praises from our hearts outpoured;
With angel-choirs then sing ye here,
That those in heaven too may hear.

Lo, all th' angelic company
Christ with glad anthems glorify!
Their blessed armies all proclaim,
With shouts of joy, His sacred Name.

Thus doth He build the Church, His fold,
And to eternal bliss uphold:
God's true confession is alone
To trust in Jesus Christ His Son.

O God the Father! Praise to Thee
Throughout the world forever be:
With all our pow'rs to Thee we raise
Our song of glory, thanks, and praise.

Because our Savior, God's true Son,
Christ Jesus, hath become a man,
The angels all are glad and sing
And unto us such honor bring.

The Holy Spirit strengthens faith,
Builds up our patient hope o'er death,
Enlightens and emboldens hearts,
True consolation He imparts.

Lord Jesus Christ! the Son most High!
Full of all might and majesty,
Thy Church o'er all the earth thanks Thee
Now and to all eternity!

The Lord a home prepares on high,
Our mansion in eternity!
Sing praise to Him, sing praise, rejoice,
Sing praise to Him and raise your voice.

All that God's holy majesty
Won for us on the sacred tree
The Holy Spirit doth imbue,
Therefore He is our Teacher true.

O Holy Ghost, true God, be nigh
With heav'nly comfort from on high;
Thee may we praise, and Thee adore,
When earth and time shall be no more.

We are His heritage in heav'n:
The angels' joys to us are giv'n.
For this that host, awaiting long,
Gives thanks to God and joins our song.

The Father sent His Son, the Christ;
The Son cannot else be confessed,
Unless the Holy Spirit first
Doth cleanse our hearts, by sin accursed.

No more distress our spirit hath:
The devil, sin, and endless death
Are put to shame and overthrown
By God's and Mary's mighty Son.

These many godly gifts so fair
Are but the Spirit's own to share,
Who turns the devil's works to naught:
All this the Lord's ascension brought.
